CHAMBER COMMERCE

PLANS MADE TO FINANCE ORGANIZATION — APPOINT AUXILIARY COMMITTEE

The regular monthly meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce convened in the Chamber of Commerce building, 1011 West Broadway, Monday evening, November 13. J. W. Usilton, president of the chamber, presided and R. M. Jackson, the secretary, performed his usual duties. After the reading of the minutes, the secretary read communications, the first one being from the Pasadena Rose Tournament association inviting the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to attend and to have the city of Glendale represented with a float. On motion, the chamber decided to accept the invitation, and Mrs. Ella Richardson was named as the chairman of a citizen's committee whose duty it will be to inquire into the advisability of having Glendale represented at the annual tournament of roses.

A letter was read from the Santa Monica Chamber of Commerce extending an invitation to the Glendale chamber to visit the automobile races in that city on the 16th and 18th of this month.

A letter from the California Development Board was read advising the chamber of commerce that a meeting of the board will be held at San Bernardino on November 25 and the Glendale chamber was asked to be represented by one or more of its members at this meeting. The object of this board is to keep a close watch upon the doings of the state legislature for the purpose of not allowing any measures to be adopted that will in the least be detrimental to the industrial development of the state. W. J. Clendenin was appointed as a delegate to represent the Glendale chamber at the San Bernardino meeting on the 25th. Other Glendale people are invited to attend this meeting.

President Usilton explained that there is a possibility of a line of work being accomplished by the ladies of Glendale that has not been given consideration by the chamber of commerce. On motion it was decided to appoint an auxiliary committee of eleven ladies to work in connection with the chamber, the purpose of this committee being to encourage the planting of trees and the general beautifying of the city. It is understood that Mrs. Ella Richardson is the leading spirit among the members of this proposed committee.

The secretary reported that the chamber of commerce is in a state of financial embarrassment and read a number of bills that are past due and should be paid immediately. He also stated that there are many members in arrears for dues from three months to one year. W. J. Clendenin volunteered to visit the members and ask them to pay back dues and also to call upon public spirited citizens who would be willing to give financial assistance to the organization. It seemed to be the wish of the majority of the members present that the city of Glendale should not be asked for any financial aid and it is with this object in view that Mr. Clendenin will pass among the people of Glendale and ask them to give such financial assistance that this body need not look to the city for appropriations.

The question of what the city council of Los Angeles will do in the way of making appropriations for the Brand boulevard extension bridge over Los Angeles river was taken up for discussion. A member present stated that he had understood that the city engineer of Los Angeles had been instructed to prepare resolutions for street improvements on the south side of the river in the course of this proposed boulevard and it seemed to be the general opinion of those interested that the city intends to make their share of the appropriation for the construction of the bridge. T. W. Watson was appointed as a committee to confer with other committees and interested parties as to what progress is being made for the extension of Brand boulevard and the building of the bridge.

A motion prevailed that no meetings of the chamber of commerce remain in session later than 10 o'clock. On motion the chamber adjourned to Monday evening, November 27.

FOOTBALL CLUB

Mrs. Joseph McMillan will be hostess to the members of the Football club at their regular monthly meeting, Friday, November 17, at her beautiful football home, Mountain and Louise streets. She will be assisted by Mrs. W. W. Stone.

LETTERS FROM FRONT

GLENDALE RED CROSS SOCIETY HAVE MESSAGES FROM SOLDIERS

The Glendale branch of the British Red Cross society is indefatigable in its work for the wounded British soldiers. The society meets regularly and fashions bandages and all kinds of clothing and hospital supplies, and recently sent a large number of Christmas hampers for the soldiers at the front. Miss Ina Whitaker and her mother are in close touch with the work in England and the two following extracts from interesting letters have recently come into their hands:

A letter from the French front says: "Some time ago an appeal was made for more clothing and we are grateful for the response. Pajamas are in such demand; we can use all you send. Mosquito netting, cup covers, cheap pans, and slippers are all welcome. The flies are bad and it is distressing to see a man with both arms amputated and the flies attacking his unprotected face. A surgeon to whom we had sent supplies said the effect on a patient of a simple card with a message was remarkable; small things put in the pockets of the shirts serve to amuse the men for hours. If you could see the journey that your bandages and pillows were to make you would have a feeling of respect for them and you would know as you saw them hurried to where men were coming in, mutilated from the battlefields, that humble as they had been in your hands, they took on a kind of glory. Calls are coming from the front for immediate needs; special consignments are being rushed. Among other things are pillows. There are never enough for the hospitals and ambulance trains. Help is needed now as never before. Remember that every bandage you make may be the means of saving a life."

"Just a few lines in answer to your post card. I received the kit which you sent me, for which I am very thankful to you. I was delighted with it, as every article was needed and nothing could have been better for a soldier in the trenches. Well, madam, you will be surprised to hear that I live only a short distance from the Bells of Shandon, but, worse luck, I have not heard them since the war started. I was very proud when I saw the song in your little book, as I had often heard it at my home in Cork. I am so pleased with the little book of verses. Myself and comrade had a bit of a joke together when we were going through the book. One little verse runs, 'When about to let go, hold on.' Well, we are two bomb-throwers and he said to me, 'It wouldn't do to hold on to a bomb when about to let go.'"

"Dear Friend. I am more than pleased to hear that you are an Irish woman. Maybe you came from some place near the Shandon Bells or you may have friends in Cork. If so, I would like to know. We are still here in Saloniki but are doing little fighting at present. Not that we are in a hurry to get into action as we had it pretty stiff before we left France. In fact, very few of the chaps that left England with the regiment are left. Well, I will come to a close with best wishes. I am very grateful to you for your goodness to me."

MUSIC FIRM CHANGES NAME

The Salyer Piano House, 1118 West Broadway, will henceforth be known as the Glendale Music company. A. M. Salyer will continue the piano and piano-player department of the business, and Vincent Salmacia of Los Angeles has entered the firm and will have charge of the phonograph and record part of the business. This company will have the exclusive sale of the Edison and Columbia phonographs and will carry an exceptionally large stock of pianos and talking machines.

CELEBRATE WILSON'S RE-ELECTION

All citizens of Glendale are invited to take part in the great parade this Tuesday, evening at 7:30 p. m., starting from the corner of Broadway and Brand boulevard, to do honor to the greatest statesman of this century, Woodrow Wilson, who has been re-elected to the highest office in the gift of the American people.

At the close of the parade the citizens of Glendale are invited to assemble at the Union high school, where stirring addresses suiting the occasion will be delivered.

W. J. CLENDENIN,
Chairman.

BRITISH ATTACK FIVE-MILE GERMAN FRONT

HAIG'S TROOPS BREAK THROUGH TEUTON'S LINES AND TAKE 4000 PRISONERS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, Nov. 14.—Attacking a five-mile front on both sides of the Ancre river, the British troops broke through the German lines, penetrated some parts of the line for four miles and took 4000 prisoners. The Germans had held this position for two years. Three villages considered impregnable were taken. An attempt was made by the English to force this position the first of July but the German defenses proved too strong. This bombardment is described as the most terrific the Somme region has yet experienced.

CHEMISTRY OF BODY

DR. HARROWER TELLS STUDENTS OF PHYSICAL EFFECTS OF EMOTIONS

The third and last of the series of lectures delivered to the student body at the high school by Dr. Henry R. Harrower was quite the most interesting of all. It concerned the relation of the emotions to health, and was a fascinating exposition of how the body responds to what was called "the emotional stimuli."

It seems that the chemistry of the body is materially influenced by our thoughts and emotions, and Dr. Harrower explained how this is brought about. There are two small glands of internal secretion situated just above the kidneys and hence called the adrenal or suprarenal glands. These produce a hormone or chemical substance which is so active that solutions of one in twenty million are capable of causing physiological results on small strips of intestinal muscle used in experimental work to determine the presence and quantity of this chemical, which is called "adrenin."

Such emotions as pain, rage or fear stimulate these glands and cause the well known changes which follow such conditions. Experimental work by Professor Cannon of Harvard university has shown that the blood from the adrenals of cats which had been frightened contained many times the amount of adrenin that is ordinarily present. This chemical substance has the power to stimulate the sympathetic or automatic functions of the body, and the increased circulation, the palpitation of the heart, the goose pimples on the skin, the standing of the hair are all evidences that fright or something akin to it has released an extra quantity of this hormone.

Doctor Harrower showed that these emotional stimuli also released sugar from the tissues where it is stored, the muscles and liver, and this extra sugar is there so that the primitive instincts of flight or fight may be the better accomplished. Football players, after a severe game, can be found to be in a state of what is termed "hyperglycemia" or an increased amount of sugar in the blood and certain tests show this present in almost half of the players. This may be the cause of disease, for it is possible for these little glands to be overworked and "depleted." In such a case the influence on the body is serious, indeed, for this adrenin controls the pressure of the blood in the vessels, regulates the digestion of food after it gets outside the actual digestive canal and virtually controls all the automatic functions of the body.

Attention was called to the importance of anger, worry and fear as being physiologically detrimental emotions largely under the control of the will and the results of suggestion and mental healing were explained as being purely a matter of chemistry—the conditions which were causing adrenal excitation were removed and these glands then had an opportunity to recuperate and get to working on a more normal basis.

Much excited merriment and long drawn applause greeted the statement by Doctor Harrower that final examinations were "physiologically improper," and he went on to explain how the mental strain and the tension connected with an anticipated school or college examination sometimes did more harm than the education did good. This is a partial explanation of the changes accompanying a "break down in school" and as our knowledge of the chemistry of the body increases it was prophesied that we would know better how to forestall as well as to control the chemical results of the influence of the mind and the emotions on health as well as disease.

Both students and teachers have been much interested in this series of lectures and it is hoped that Doctor Harrower may have other opportunities to pass on some of the special information which he has made his life study. The doctor has promised the News that shortly he will tell us about the association which he has recently been instrumental in founding as we believe that this will be interesting news to the residents of Glendale to know that right here, under our noses, an international scientific society has had its inception and already includes leading members of the profession in this country and eight or nine foreign lands.

A permanent Republican committee has been appointed for Hermosa Beach through the medium of the Los Angeles county central committee. The personnel of the committee is as follows: W. L. Donahue, chairman; Ira Hagenbuch, A. W. Ellington, C. H. Dart, N. H. McKay and Mrs. Thomas Preston.

CURRENT EVENTS

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS APPROPRIATE $5,000 TOWARD COST OF IVANHOE BRIDGE

BOARD APPROPRIATES $5000
The board of supervisors of Los Angeles county, in session today, reported favorably on making an appropriation of $5000 to be used as a part of the expense for the construction of the Ivanhoe bridge, which is necessary for the extension of Brand boulevard. The total cost of the bridge is estimated to be $15,000 or $18,000. The city of Los Angeles is expected to pay the difference between the cost and the amount appropriated by the board of supervisors.

KINDERGARTEN COMMITTEE

A meeting was held in the Broadway kindergarten Monday, November 13, by the kindergarten committee of the Parent-Teacher Association of Glendale, kindergarten teachers and interested friends. Two of the members of the Mutual Benefit Reading circle were present. The subject for discussion was "Gifts of the Kindergarten." These gifts were explained and illustrated by the various kindergarten teachers present. A very interesting report was read by Miss Ormsby, one of the kindergarten teachers, of a meeting of kindergartners of Los Angeles, of the fourth district of Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations, which was held in the Y. W. C. A. in Los Angeles on November 11.

The next meeting of the Glendale kindergarten committees and interested friends of kindergarten work will be held in Colorado kindergarten bungalow Tuesday, January 16, 1916, at 2:15 p. m.

POLICE HUNT WAR BRIDE

Chief of Police Herald is looking for a woman who was operating in Casa Verdugo Monday and who sold a number of Pomona women "real" Irish lace worth about ten cents a yard for 85 cents. Should this woman come to your home, you should notify the police at once. The woman is said to be young and very attractive, with blue eyes and a broad Irish brogue. In Pomona, Claremont, Ontario and neighboring towns she posed as a war bride. She claims to have been married in Ireland at the beginning of the war and says her husband was killed in the trenches. She was unable to find work in the old country and came to Canada and later to the United States. For generations back her family were lace makers and she brought with her a small loom, which she displayed with her laces. She claims to have made the lace which sold for 85 cents per yard because of her poverty. Women eagerly took advantage of this opportunity to buy real Irish lace so cheaply and she had no difficulty in disposing of her wares. However, one woman became suspicious and sent a sample of the lace to an expert lace buyer in a large San Francisco store and word came back that it was a very clever imitation but not real lace at all, and that it was worth 10 cents a yard. It is possible the woman may still be working in this locality.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE-ELECT

A charming compliment for a bride-elect was the china shower given by Miss Lola East, Saturday afternoon for Miss Mary Jane Evans, whose marriage to Louis Coole takes place this month. The house was beautifully decorated with many pink carnations and ferns, the color scheme throughout the afternoon being in the pink tones. Miss East was assisted in receiving her guests by Mrs. I. N. East, Mrs. C. M. Sparr, Mrs. Ralph Wright and Mrs. Harry Maggard of Houston, Texas.

Much amusement was afforded by a contest, and slips of pink paper handed the guests with the request to write advice to the bride-to-be, these being read aloud.

A pink parasol with the smaller gifts tied to it with pink ribbons was brought in by little Martha Louise Maggard to the honor guest, and a large tray held the rest of the handsome gifts. A delicious ice cream and cake course was served.

Those present were: Misses Mary Jane Evans, Lola East, Dorothy Hobbs, Pauline Hamilton, Katherine Hobbs, Ernestine Lyon, Evangeline Hunchberger, Esther Schremp, Alice Grey Beach, Mabeth Pigg, Katherine Phillips, Catherine Lord, Marjory Imler, Carol Willisford, Vera Bayard, Dorothy Hunt, Barbara Mitchell, Carrie Stone, Mildred Wight, Ruth Ryan, Martha Louise and Allene Maggard of Houston, Texas; Mesdames Hough, Craig, Coole, Robinson, Webb, Sparr, Wright, East, Maggard.

THE POSTMASTER QUESTION

The establishing of an independent postoffice for Glendale brings to the people of this city a responsibility from which they should not shirk. Congressman Randall announces in another column of this issue that he will be in Glendale Saturday of this week to inquire as to who is the man the people of Glendale want to have appointed as postmaster. It is understood that Congressman Randall will consider only applicants who are members of the Democratic party and who have been registered as members of that party at the time of recent elections. This requirement does not in any way restrict the appointment of a very capable postmaster for there are now in the field as candidates men who are very capable and who are members of the party in power.

The editor of the Evening News is vitally interested in the appointment of a man who will be in all particulars able to fill the position of postmaster satisfactorily. The question of capability should be the first consideration and probably second, party loyalty. Without proper qualifications what good will a postmaster be to Glendale? However, the Evening News feels confident that the intelligent citizens of Glendale and Congressman Randall will see to it that none but a man of proper qualifications gets the appointment.

NEW LIGHT ON SPANISH SETTLEMENT OF CALIFORNIA

New light is thrown on the early history of California in a volume just published by Herbert Ingram Priestley, assistant curator of the Bancroft Library of Pacific Coast History of the University of California. This author claims that greatly as Father Junipero Serra is to be revered the glory for planning the settlement of California by the Spaniards does not belong to him. Mr. Priestley claims that this achievement was due to one, Jose de Galvez, visitor-general of New Spain 1765 to 1771. The romantic story of the rise of this Spanish shepherd boy to Minister of the Indies and a marquis in the peerage of Castile is one of intense interest and worthy of a place in the history of our state.

Jose de Galvez whom our historian calls the founder of the white man's civilization in California was directly descended from one of the oldest and purest Spanish lines, his ancestors bearing an important part in the struggle with the Moors the year that America was discovered. The young shepherd boy was given an opportunity to study for the priesthood, but later turned to law.

We may discover an index to the successful career of the young lawyer in a reply which he made to King Charles III. Having won a law suit brought against the state, the King asked Galvez how he had the temerity to defend a case against the state. The lawyer answered, "Senor, antes que el rey esta la ley." (Sir, the law is greater than the king). He arose rapidly in his profession and in 1765 was made visitor-general to New Spain, which included the vast region from Panama to Santa Fe and from Louisiana to the Pacific Coast. All Mexico and Central and Southwest America felt his influence, but the lasting monument to his career was the Spanish occupancy of California.

In a letter of May 20, 1768, Galvez speaks of the importance of taking possession of the port of Monterey and establishing there a presidio, as alarming reports were coming that the Russians, then in possession of Alaska, were trying to spread their possessions southward along the Pacific coast. Galvez first established a naval base at San Blas on the Mexican Mainland from whence he made journeys to San Diego and Monterey by sea and sent a land expedition to build a presidio at Monterey.

The young Spaniard was far seeing in adding this rich domain to the revenues of old Spain. Machinery was installed at the mines in Santa Ana in Lower California, a church was built and a school established to teach the young Indians useful employments. Galvez found that the missions of Lower California were suffering due to the management of Portola's soldiers and he restored the management of the missions to Father Serra. Galvez himself first proposed the establishment of missions in Upper California and while the college of San Fernando, which had charge of the missions bitterly opposed the plan, it was enthusiastically supported by Father Serra.

The history of the missions of California, their rise and fall is more or less familiar to all of us. If this brilliant young Spaniard really conceived the idea of the settlement of California he is indeed deserving of a prominent place in the history of our state and nation.

ADHERING STRICTLY TO BUSINESS

The success and failure of men who engage in business often depends upon the degree of attention these men give to their business. The successful business man must have a peculiar aptness for the business in which he is engaged—he must be so deeply absorbed in the welfare of his occupation that it is his preference to give careful study to the details of the work in which he is engaged. The proprietor or successful manager of any line of business must voluntarily give thought outside of regular hours to the business he owns or manages. There is no such thing as good luck in connection with the average business undertaking.

A man's success or failure in any undertaking in life depends upon how he applies his energies to that undertaking. The mind silently at work accomplishes great things, and it is the mind silently at work that plans for the day's work in the factory, shop, store and school room. It makes a difference what engages the attention of the human mind. Close application and careful and thoughtful attention to the job in hand is what eventually leads to success. Thoughtfulness without being on the job in person will not bring the best results in business—the two combined—thoughtfulness and application are essential to get the best results.

THE GOOD OF THOROUGH ORGANIZATION

The success of the $15,000,000 road bonds measure at the recent election is an example of what thorough organization can accomplish. The Tri-State Good Roads association, with headquarters in Los Angeles, are receiving letters of congratulation from all parts of the state south of the Tehachapi. The 80,000 or more votes against the bonds gives evidence that there was some sentiment against the measure and the association, having made a study of this sentiment in the outlying districts of the state, waged a two months' campaign with the result that the measure carried almost two to one. One of the secrets of the success of the association was that the campaign they waged was one of education. They endeavored to show the people the true meaning of the bonds. Undoubtedly without this campaign so thoroughly organized the measure would have been lost.

DAILY PAPER AFFORDS ADVANTAGE

The advantages afforded by a daily newspaper in a community are numerous. Scarcely an hour passes without a practical example being presented to the publisher of the Evening News that a daily paper in Glendale is a convenience. However it is truth that in a community of the population of the territory comprising Glendale, Tropic and Casa Verdugo, a daily paper needs the undivided support of all citizens, to make it possible for such a paper to do the very most good.

The mission of the Evening News is to serve as a community builder, and it is the purpose of the publisher to leave the columns open for all reading matter that will tend to educate the people to be better citizens.

The difference in the popular vote of Woodrow Wilson and Charles Evans Hughes is so close in many of the states that Mr. Hughes refuses to concede the election to President Wilson until the official count has been completed in these states. California is one of the doubtful states, and the official count is now being conducted with expert watchers representing both parties present while the count is being made.

Strange that in this land of civilization it is necessary to have sworn officers watched that they may not be dishonest in counting the ballots.

BROADWAY GARAGE RE-OPENED

While many residents of the Pacific coast return East each year, yet many their number from the East come West, and of these California gets the lion's share. One of the latest arrivals in Glendale is G. H. Brown of Buffalo, N. Y., who came to Glendale last week. Mr. Brown has leased the Broadway garage at 437 West Broadway, and has started a machine and auto repair shop. This newcomer is an auto mechanic of over ten years' experience. He will specialize on repairing Fords, Overlands and Cadillacs, although familiar with practically all makes of motors. Prior to coming to Glendale he was road expert for the Canadian branch of the Cadillac Motor company and prior to that was manager of the service department of a large Overland distributing agency in New York state.

BIRD HOUSE EXHIBIT

The bird house exhibit will be held in the spacious store room at 327 South Brand, Glendale, just south of the Palace Grand. This favor has been courteously granted by Messrs. E. Coker and Fred Wilkinson. All bird houses must be entered for competition not later than 5 o'clock November 29. Boys and girls will bring their bird houses to 327 South Brand during the afternoons of November 27, 28 and 29, and will register their name, address, age and school grade. The exhibition of bird houses will be open to the public December 1 and 2. Prizes will be awarded at a public meeting to be held on Thursday evening, December 7, at 8 o'clock, in the auditorium of the Third street school. Sixteen prizes have been kindly offered by Glendale residents, a list of whose names were published recently. Promises to purchase bird houses have also been made, so that our young people have a fine opportunity of winning prizes and earning pocket money. The bird house contest is being conducted by the Glendale Garden society. All enquiries cheerfully answered at headquarters, 1111 Broadway, Glendale. NANNO WOODS.

PLANT PARTY

The plant party to be held by the Glendale Garden society on Thursday evening promises to be a great success. Music, tea, a talk on dahlia culture by an expert and an exchange of plants—it certainly does sound attractive. And at no cost to anybody. The Garden society officials know just how hard it is sometimes to become acquainted with congenial people. One can attend church and lectures galore, yet meet few, if any, friends. Glendale needs a place and an organization where, without spending money in entrance fees and large yearly dues, opportunities are offered of getting acquainted. Glendale has no civic recreation building; it has no organization devoted to social amenities for the public at large.

The Garden society knows that a campaign for home and civic beauty cannot be of much avail unless people are brought together and made happy in becoming acquainted. The social meeting held by the Garden society on the third Thursday of each month is designed to meet some of these needs. It is open to everyone alike. All are cordially welcomed. Food for body and mind is provided, entertainment and good cheer are offered, a kindly, get-acquainted spirit prevails. Come and bring your friends.

NANNO WOODS, President.
MORRIS E. CARUTHERS,
Secretary.

AT GLENDALE HIGH

That ignorance is the greatest cause of disease was the statement yesterday of Dr. Harrower in an address before the science students of the school on the subject, "Emotions in Their Relation to Health."

Fear, rage, pain, love and hunger, Dr. Harrower said, are matters of chemistry. Two small ductless glands—the adrenal glands—secrete a substance known as adrenin into the blood. The adrenin controls the sympathetic nerve system of the body. However, the supply of adrenin is controlled by the emotions of the body.

The expression, "I am scared to death," the speaker declared, is not as impossible as it might seem. People have actually been scared to death. When the adrenal glands are over active the hormone balance of the body is greatly upset. All of the intestinal secretion glands are overworked, and illness results. Sorrow and anger are emotions which have a marked effect upon the adrenal glands.

In surgical operations the fear of the patient is often worse than the disease which is being treated, the speaker said. Modern physicians who attain success apply mental suggestion. The results obtained by Christian Science have a physiological scientific basis. They can be expressed in terms of chemistry.

By experimenting on cats, it has been found that an actual increase in the adrenin in the blood resulted from the presence of a dog in the cat's range of vision. Dr. Harrower reminded his audience that the statements he was making had been proved. He described several very interesting experiments by means of which scientists had made some of these wonderful discoveries about the influences of the ductless glands.

Always be able to control your emotions, was the speaker's advice. Do not allow yourself to become angry. If you do you will paralyze your system with adrenin.

Mr. Poor, instructor in chemistry, was at school yesterday in spite of two very painfully swollen hands. While performing an experiment in the chemistry laboratory Friday with magnesium powder, Mr. Poor sustained severe burns on both his hands. He had attempted to ignite the powder, which, it seems, was in an enclosed apparatus. Apparently unsuccessful, he started to try it again, when an unobserved spark exploded the powder. Fortunately only the hands suffered burns. Mr. Poor says that he will be able to write soon, and no wonder—examination time is drawing near.

FAULTS MULTIPLY

"Not to correct our faults is to commit new ones," says a Chinese proverb.

We sometimes flatter ourselves that we are not adding to our imperfections, even if we are not eradicating them. This is something we cannot truthfully assert, for a fault is like a weed. The longer it is imbedded in the soil the deeper the roots penetrate and the more rapidly it does it multiply, until what once might have been easily uprooted, is not destroyed without much labor and pains.

INTERMEDIATE PARENT-TEACHERS MEET

The Intermediate Parent-Teacher association met Monday afternoon at 3:15. After the regular routine of business, Professor Olliver of the high school gave a talk on "Vocational Training." It was decided to take five girls from the Juvenile Home of Los Angeles and assist in giving them a chance to make good. The financial report of the benefit for the intermediate school athletic fund was given—$65 was taken in by the association and $45 turned over to the athletic fund. A vote of thanks was extended to the management of the Palace Grand for their co-operation in the benefit.

POSTOFFICE HEARING

Congressman Randall announces that he will spend the entire day on Saturday, Nov. 18, 1916, in Glendale for the purpose of hearing the wishes of our people on the postoffice question, and as to the selection of a postmaster. The hearing will begin at 10 a. m. at the Glendale union high school. It is urged that every interested citizen and organization express an opinion. This will not be a public hearing, but Congressman Randall will hear everyone individually. No choice has yet been made even tentatively, and petitions will have little value. It is desired that our people present in person their recommendations in this matter.

FACTS AND COMMENT

The Santa Monica board of education has decided to establish a dental clinic for both high and elementary schools.

An election will be held at El Segundo on December 21 to decide whether or not that place will be incorporated as a sixth class city.

A citrus institute will be held in Riverside on November 20 to 24. An effort will be made to present as many factors of orchard management as possible for discussion.

The Southern California Counties Gas company started work last week on the pipe line which is to carry natural gas from Whittier to Monrovia and other inland cities.

A second newspaper, the "Covina Citizen," is to be established at Covina, with Percy T. Adelsbush, one-time editor of the Watts Advertiser, and more recently secretary to Congressman Randall, as editor.

Mrs. Myra Kingman Miller of Long Beach has been chosen national president of the Federation of College Women, an organization with a membership of 100,000 college women in 23 states, and including 2000 clubs.

Five hundred striped bass have been placed in Lake Elsinore by Deputy Fish and Game Commissioner J. Geiger. The fish were from two to five inches long and were brought to Elsinore from the hatchery at Sisson by auto.

Citrus fruit growers were warned of frost danger Monday and in the fruit districts smudge pots were gotten in readiness, but the wind storm which blocked many miles of Southern California boulevards Monday prevented any frost damage to the fruit.

Automobile dealers of Sawtelle, Venice, Ocean Park and Santa Monica opened the first Santa Monica Bay Auto Show Saturday night, which continued for four days. The show was held at the Dome auditorium, Ocean Park, and special entertainment features were presented each evening.

The Southern California Retail Grocers' association last Thursday wired a protest against the high cost of food products to President Wilson and appealed for an immediate embargo on wheat, flour, sugar and canned goods. This action was taken in co-operation with kindred organizations throughout the United States.

Frank H. T. Ritchie, community extension secretary of the Y. M. C. A. international committee, is in Los Angeles to discuss plans for community work. Mr. Ritchie said in address to secretaries of associations in Southern California that Los Angeles is an ideal city for the community plan because it is made up of so many communities.

Sawtelle will celebrate the completion of Santa Monica boulevard improvement, now going forward rapidly, on Saturday, December 16, with a big auto parade of the beach cities, a free barbecue, a marathon race under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic association, and other athletic and competitive contests, ending with a street dance at night.

The monthly custom report issued last week by Collector Elliott shows that commodities valued at $420,146, including raw cotton and cattle, were imported through Southern California customs ports from Mexico in October. The entire imports from all countries totaled $535,321. Japan sent Christmas goods valued at $28,558.36, as against $30,875.50 in October, 1915.

Bean ranchers in the Sawtelle district have finished threshing. The crop is estimated at 100,000 sacks, and a rough estimate places the acreage in the valley this year at 12,000. A heavy rainfall after the beans were cut made the ranchers fear a heavy loss, but the damage proved to be slight. Sacks used for the beans were a heavier item than usual this season, having in recent years cost four cents, while they now cost from eleven to twelve and a half cents.

Members of the Pacific Kelp Manufacturers association will meet state and federal authorities at San Diego this week to discuss finally and to pass upon the recommendation of provisions for a new bill to be presented to the California state legislature, for the protection of the kelp beds along the California coast line. The bill has been framed at joint meetings of kelp manufacturing interests and government authorities for the purpose of protecting the kelp beds, and to promote measures which will make the kelp products industry an American source of potash.

Friday of this week the Whittier Chamber of Commerce will entertain the Santa Fe farmers' special for Eastern farmers. The farmers' special is operated by the Santa Fe each year and the Eastern visitors are given an opportunity of visiting the various districts of the state. Automobiles will carry the visitors over the district. One of the features of the luncheon to be served will be avocado sandwiches. Whittier, or rather North Whittier Heights, claims to be the commercial center for this new fruit, and the Easterners will be shown some of its possibilities.

ROADSIDE MARKETS

During the last summer, roadside markets flourished in many parts of New Jersey, to the delight of thousands of autoists and tourists.

This new departure is distinctly the outgrowth of automobile traffic, and it is revolutionizing, to a limited degree, the sale of farm products. When the peach season was on in Jersey, thousands of baskets of fruit were sold straight from the orchards.

While peaches were the principal article on sale, the offerings of the growers ran the full gamut of the most tempting of seed catalogue lists. One could buy anything from an onion to a watermelon fresh from the farm, the only requirement was that he must be his own deliveryman and must pay cash for his purchase. Country girls, and the wives of the farmers, in most cases, tended the stalls at the roadside.

HELPING THE BLIND

The Lighthouse in Paris, the gift of Americans to soldiers of the French republic who have lost their eyes in battle, is working wonders at its task of rehabilitating blinded men. It is teaching them new methods by which they may pursue their accustomed tasks of peace.

The house was opened under the auspices of the committee for men blinded in battle. Joseph H. Choate is president; Bishop David H. Greer honorary chairman, and ex-President Taft, Herbert L. Satterlee and Thomas P. Gore, the blind Oklahoma senator, are those on the executive committee in America.

There are 70 national bird reservations, of which 7 are in charge of the department of agriculture.

PRACTICAL AID

Bradford, England, is attracting attention for the many improvements in city management that have been put in working order. One of the notable enterprises for the welfare of boys, girls, and young people is an employment bureau. By an admirable system of cooperation between teachers, medical officers, and employers, the mental and physical capabilities, as well as the predispositions of boys and girls, are considered in connection with the opportunities for employment and advancement in offices and mills. It is said that there are fewer misfits and more thrifty young people than in former times.

CHEAP AUTOMOBILES

France is planning to give to the world automobiles at comparatively low prices. A company with a capital of $50,000,000 is being established for the conducting of an immense factory at Lyons, France, to produce cheap cars only. Two of the leading automobile manufacturers of France are heavily interested in this concern.

In spite of the disturbed condition of the industries of France, the automobile and kindred factories have increased within the last two years from thirty to 300 per cent.

NEW SCENIC ROAD

The Arizona National Forest Reserve is now traversed by an excellent automobile road. It follows various Apache trails and passes the old Roosevelt dam, the home of the ancient cliff dwellers, and others of the State's most interesting scenic and historic spots.

REALIZING YOUR POSSIBILITIES

It is not necessary for an acorn to become an oak. As a matter of fact, very few of them do, or this earth would be nothing but a vast oak plantation. The squirrels and other animals take care of a good many. Some are crushed underfoot and others rot in the earth. Some germinate and then succumb to adverse conditions. Only a very small minority realize their possibilities and become strong and majestic and beautiful.

There is the making of a splendid success in every one of you, not necessarily of the brilliant sort, but the success of doing well whatever you undertake and building up character. To make a true man or woman is of itself a superlative success. But though that is possible for each of us, not all of us realize our possibilities. Sometimes we are content merely to make a living. Some of us let our hearts on pleasure and forget duty. Some yield to temptation, and the high possibilities of our destiny are forgotten. The acorn has no choice in the matter, but if you fall short of the strength and symmetry of the splendid oak it is your own fault.

HOW TO FEED HENS

As an instance of the widened and practical development of university education in California, they are pointing to the short course in poultry given by the University of California, at the university farm at Davis, from October 2 to November 14. The students are taught how to feed hens in a six weeks' course. Short courses were in progress at the same time in agriculture, horticulture and dairy manufactures.

The farmers and their wives, who go to these practical short courses, are given the benefit of the investigations which the poultry division of the university farm has been carrying on for the past three years concerning the comparative feeding values of high protein feeds, such as meat scraps, fish scraps, buttermilk, linseed, soy bean and coconut meals, alfalfa meal, etc., for laying hens. The university authorities say that how hens are fed is just as vitally important as the question of what they are fed.

A GIGANTIC PLAN.

Projects for drying the Zuyder Zee in Holland have been revived. A bill is now before the Netherlands Parliament to appropriate money for the work. The cost is estimated at $90,000,000, part of which is to cover indemnity to fishermen.

Commodore E. C. Benedict is preparing to convert his 300-acre estate at Greenwich, Conn., into a sanctuary for birds. Shelter boxes will be arranged throughout the woods and in the clear stretches.

STOPPING AND STARTING
There are people who think they are important because they can stop things. They are adepts in throwing cold water. Their gift for discovering difficulties in the way amounts to genius. Whatever is suggested, they can always find reasons why it is impossible. And when the project they have opposed comes to nothing, they pride themselves on being people of influence and importance. This is a big mistake. A cow can stop a train, but it takes a locomotive with plenty of steam to pull a train up a steep grade. Anybody can stop things. The question is, what can you start?
Care should be taken to handle alfalfa hay so as not to lose leaves, as these contain considerably more than 50 per cent of the feeding value of the hay.
Garlic flavor can be eliminated by heating milk to 145 degrees F. and blowing air through it.
A hundred and twenty-four pairs of birds nest on the average farm in the Northeast.

PRECINCT MAP OF GLENDALE

The accompanying map was published in the Evening News almost daily several weeks prior to the election, and notwithstanding this on election day many voters called the Evening News office by phone, asking the location of certain voting precincts.

Today we give space to the map for the purpose of allowing those who wish to become familiar with the location of their voting precinct to do so.
